Disco From The KRYPT

Last night the ghouls and ghosts came out of the Krypt for a disco. The Kastle was full of all types of monsters and living dead with everyone coming alive for the time warp. Many of the cousins from Subcamps attend and attempted to show the scouts/explorers how to dance. But we spoke to a few explorers who would disagree with this. According to members of Stewart Subcamp "They did the mash...they did the monster mash..." and other reports confirm it was a graveyard smash.

However, a mixture of the damp weather and dancing scouts led to some uncomfortable conditions in the Kastle as Freddy Kruger of Morrison subcamp said "It was warm and smelly". There were also unconfirmed reports of unseasonal weather as one explorer commented "The disco was so cool it snowed".

WHO HAS BEEN HIDING AT BLAIR ATHOLL

Over the past couple of days I have met a few people/explorers. They have come from all over the world, from America to Japan. Some complain it's too hot or too cold, but we have a chance to see each other's cultures. The American Texans and Canadians along with Gibraltnans in Robertson.

We interviewed the Gibraltar troop of six males in Robertson. ...

Sebastian the Scout Leader said... it's good the weather has improved a lot, this is his 8th time here, the 2nd time was the best as a Scout.

Ethan said... the first day was a bit slow but it got better as it went along this is his 2nd time and the 1st time is better so far and the best activity so far for Ethan has been team sports.

Julian Chipolina said... Camp is going well, having fun 1st time here, is it good that the weather has brightened up? He said "yeah buddy".

Luke Gracia said ... loved the hot temperature the climate change has been very different from back home. Has made very good new friends. Enjoyed the disco a lot and hope the rest of the camp goes well.

American scout leader "Ray" explained that this is an amazing camp to go to and that it was his 6th time, he said they were all good.

Brian and Chris from U.S.A joked that everything was so strict, they thought that kilts were skirts. They also enjoyed all of Scotland's old history.

Yoki from Japan explained that he was amused with the amount of activities and the disco was an amazing new experience because they don't have discos in Japan. He said that the food was a lot stronger than what he is used to but he is enjoying the camp so far.

Kyle, Tristan, Logan and Jeevan all say that the camp so far is good their most enjoyable activity was the castle tour. It was their 1st time.

Clodagh and Georgina said very good and met lots of people, their 1st time. The best activity was Blair Roots.

Gustavo the Brazilian scout leader that works in backwoods cooking said he has enjoyed Blair Atholl a lot.

Cooking Up A Storm!!

In the 'Ready Steady Cook' tent, peelers were poised and spatulas were suspended as scouts master-chefs were preparing for battle. With one team starting off "cooking everything and mixing it together" which soon evolved into a 'Swedish Fry-up', it was clear everyone's creative juices were flowing! Also among the fragrant dishes were the classics such as risotto and chocolate oranges, some with a slight twist of raspberries! From spaghetti Bolognese with bacon and smoked sausage to Chinese food it's apparent food from across the countries was being prepared! The most exotic, shall we say, was a pudding of homemade pancakes with orange and chocolate "dressing". These amazing dishes were going to be judged against a mystery panel of food critics, called upon from behind the staff lines, the scouts had to give it their all to impress the judges.

What Goes On At The Atholl Experience?

Surely you have heard about the Atholl Experience? And you probably understood that it have something to do with mud. And maybe you have even heard the wild shouts from the forest? Are you curious to know about more about the muddy activity? Just keep reading.

The ones we have asked have said the same thing: "The Atholl Experience is great, it's definitely something everybody should try!"

You start out as a squire. The Experience is all about becoming the knight you have always wanted to be. And if that knight is a muddy knight, you're dreams will come true.

To become a knight you have to pass 4 tests. The last test is of course to defeat the dragon. But the real challenge is to get as muddy as possible!

Have you seen the statue up the hill? According to the story, that man is the very first to do the Atholl Experience. He wanted everyone to go up the hill and shout out how awesome the experience is, so that is tradition.

We, and everyone who has done the Atholl Experience encourage you to sign up for it and be one of the true Blair Atholl adventurers! It's great fun and an accomplishment to brag about.

So next time you see Atholl Experience on the whiteboard or on the list, you know what to do.

The Yellow Scarf Pirates

This is a story known to only a few people. I am one of them. It's about the truth of the scouting jamboree in Scotland...

A long time ago, there was a scouting of pirates, they called themselves the yellow scarf pirates. They robbed the cities they passed by on hikes and took everything they wanted. Candy, gold, more scarves, even a few people to join their Clan! Then, on one day, all the other scouting groups decided to have a big meeting of peace and love. The Yellow scarf's clan thought: "This is our BIG CHANCE to rule all the scouting groups!" So, the pirates went with their ship to Scotland, where the meeting would be. They waited, observed, waited some more, and ATTACKED! It was a rough fight, many sailors were lost, but they had VICTORY! The pirates celebrated for 10 days. Now, the key to their success was that they had 6 captains, each with a specialty!

The greatest Captain was Captain MacLean. He was the leader of leaders. He fights with swords, pistols and his bare hands. He was great at coming up with strategies. He's also the one who suggested the starting of a pirate clan.

The second Captain was Captain MacDonald, he was the best chef of the seven seas and the best with knives. Could cook everything, he caught every fish in the ocean and could speak French. He was the first cook of the clan.

The Third Captain was Captain Murray, he was the one keeping the team together with pirate songs and lots of rum! He was the one who kept the pirates together at the toughest times.

The fourth Captain was Captain Morrison, the connection-man. He made sure they had everything they needed, from toothpicks to buns. He had connections from all over the world. In Japan, South-Africa, the USA, the Netherlands, Ireland, Scotland, Finland, Brazil, Russia, Canada, Austria, England, Gibraltar, Hong Kong, Norway, Spain, Sweden, Wales.

The fifth Captain was Captain Robertson, he was a great fighter, very agile. He could get away with the blink of an eye, and knew all the tricks.

The last Captain was Captain Stewart, the youngest ever-to-be Captain. He was energetic, playful and really childish, which made him the best man for new ideas.

And that's how the biannually jamboree started. That's why the sub camps are named like that. Luckily, the pirate era was a long time ago and there aren't any scout-pirates here today...

Or are there? YARGH!!!

Dear Auntie Freeze,

I desperately need your help. I met a beautiful zombie girl last night at the Disco. She makes my heart sing and my brain dance. What can I do to impress her?

Igor from Stewart Subcamp

Dear Igor,

What a wonderful thing. Auntie Freeze is always willing to help in the romance area. The first thing you should do is give her gifts, girls always like to receive gifts. If you want to get her some face makeup I'm sure you can find an extremely lovely shade of white paint at the local DIY store. I'm sure they will give you a great sale price for a gallon of the rain resistant type.

Girls also love jewellery. You might want to consider a nose ring, that is if she still has a nose. If not, maybe a wrist band. Make sure you don't pull her arm too hard when you put it on, the wrist might detach, but that may be a very handy thing.

Taking a girl to dinner is always very nice. If you phone before hand you should be able to get a reservation for a granite top table at the graveyard. It's usually very hard to get a table because people are just dying to get in. After your date make sure you meet her parents. I'm sure they will be very glad to see you and your beating heart and dancing brain..... Ha ha ha ha ha ha

Good luck and good eating,

Auntie Freeze

The food at Blair Atholl

We asked some people what they thought about the food at the camp so far.

Julia and Emilia from Finland thought the food has been good and different from what they get at home. They have also been given a good service from their Scottish hosts.

4/5

William from USA thought the food has been pretty good and a bit different than what he usually eats.

4.3/5

Sian and Kelly from Scotland thought the food has been great but there could be more selections for the lunch and not just sandwiches.

4/5

So the food so far seems to have been pretty good.

Those Noisy Highland Hills

Subcamp friendly rivalry was created on the first night in Morrison when we challenged Stewart to a chatting/shouting competition of 'There aint no flies on us', which went way out across the field. The villagers must have thought the world cup final was being played among the usually quieter Perthshire Hills from all the noise.
