Blair In The Park

Last night we had Blair In The Park where, we were entertained with three different musical groups. The atmosphere was electric, with everyone jumping around to the music or swaying their arms in the air.

The Satellite Camp Has Landed

Yesterday over 300 extra bodies arrived at camp. This was the scouts who are here for the weekend at the Satellite camp. Some of our overseas leaders went to their camp fire to give them really big welcome start to their camp.

Today started with all the Satellite scouts taking part in some of your activities.

John said, "This is great, I want to stay".

Welcome to our now newly extended camp family and we hope you all have a wonderful time.

Kaiserschmarren

It is a typical Austrian food. For all people, who have a sweet tooth, it is delicious.

Below you will find the recipe:

- 120g flour
- 3 eggs
- 30g sugar
- pinch of salt
- milk if desired
- Rosins

A little water

Mix the flour, egg yolk, sugar and salt with the milk to make a sticky mixture. Leave to stand for half an hour. Beat the egg white until stiff. Melt butter in a frying pan. Add all ingredients and mix. Heat and turn until both sides golden brown. Slice into pieces.

The Puddle of Doom

There be a puddle, none too big but none too wee either, where Scouts mysteriously disappear amongst the chaos of mud and grime in the Atholl Experience. Over the decades this, seemingly innocent collection of Scotland's excessive summer precipitation, has amassed an army of lost children.

These pesky poltergeists rise up from the mist of the urinal pits to wreak their mischief on hapless campers. They take glee in their pathetic attempts to spoil Blair for the Scouts sensible enough to avoid the clutches of the Puddle of Doom. These are the forces that plug the Scotloo's with vast quantities of paper and faeces that leave behind a godless smell and an image that burns itself into a Scouts darkest subconscious.

So for all of you undertaking the Atholl Experience, heed this warning. Beware of that puddle that's not too big and not too wee, for once gripped in its slimy hold, none can escape the Puddle of Doom!

A short load of nonsense, written by Connor Tait and Heather Somerville of MacLean for your amusement.

IF YOU HAD ONE WISH...

Craig: No rain for two weeks

Karting: wishes global development would not make them turn there music down.

Ally: New knees

Fraser: Good weather

John Kennedy: Sunny days for the rest of the camp

Kate: Camp to be dry for the rest of the camp

Dougal: Wishes he has a sound proof box to sleep in at night.

Bruce: That everyone has a very happy camp.

Raff: Wishes that more subcamps were like Stewart

Little Andrew: Wishes he could ride a quad bike.

Uncle Robbie: Wishes he could get a laugh a minute.

Phil: I just want to be reunited with me lovely Kate Dalrymple brings you...

SILLY SURVEYS

Flip Flops, Good or Evil.

This question, which has been stalking mankind since the invention of flip-flops. We have asked people in and around the sub camps for the conclusion of this most important question.

We asked Yastrebow Mikhail if he liked flip-flops to which he answered “no!”

Romana Pierioni from Maclean sub camp answered, “Yes because you can kill moths with them.”

Aunt Eva from Maclean sub camp also thinks that flip-flops are evil and are “totally impractical for camp” and said “croc’s are the way forward.”

Marten Overmeyer said that he likes flip-flops a lot because you “have fresh feet.”

Due to the feedback from each sub camp we have concluded that flip flops can be evil but can also be good depending on your situation but perhaps wellies or boots are a slightly better option.

Annalise, Lisa and Russell were Kas-tle Kurrent Reporters for the morning and helped to take photographs and silly surveys.

A big thank you for all your help.

The Old Yins Are The Best

- What happened to the paper shop? – It got blown away.
- What is ET short for? – He’s got wee legs.
- Where do you find a dog with no legs? – Where you left him.
- What do you call a man with no ears? – Anything you like, he can’t hear you.
- What do you call a man with a bird on his head? – Cliff.
- What do you get if you sit under a cow? – A pat on the head.
- What do you get hanging from apple trees? – Sore arms.

Silly Surveys

We asked forty five people to see if they were left or right handed.

Our results showed that twenty three out of twenty seven men were right handed and that four out of twenty seven men were left handed.

Our results for woman were: fourteen out of eighteen were right handed, and four out of eighteen were left handed.

Crazy Faces

I decided I would go around the campsite asking people to pull funny faces for me! I got quite a few true Crazy Faces! There are photos of Cousins and participants alike! Sad crazy faces, Happy crazy faces, Annoyed crazy faces and of course, CRAZY CRAZY FACES! By Bruce Reid – Stewart

SILLY SURVEYS

Do you wear socks in bed? I decided to find out the answer to this puzzling question today and I asked as many people I could find who had their own feet. 77% wear socks in bed, I have to say I was surprised!

Happy Birthday Jane Bathgate

Thanks for bring the Galashields Patrol to Blair this weekend.

What do you think makes up Irn Bru?

It's FIZZY, it's GINGER, it's PHENOMENAL!!!! But do you know what's in that orange liquid???

Today we asked around the campsite to see what they thought of the wonderful drink, Irn-bru. 77% of people thought the drink are amazing some of the comments were – "It's fizzy , It's ginger, Its phenomenal", "Rocket fuel", "If I had a stoat I would feed it Irn-bru". 15% thought it was just ok comments were "Good in small doses.", "Not good, but not bad." The other 8% said they didn't like it. We heard such comments as; "I like Scotland but not Irn-bru." "Knock off of Lucozade", "too sweet". Then to top the survey off we had the worst answer we had heard all day, "I have never tasted it". We personally think Irn-bru is awesome and if you haven't tasted it, well, it is only £1.50 for a two litre bottle, what a bargain!!!!

There has been speculation that Irn-bru contains 50% Girder Rust 30% Ginger Hair 20% E124, 999% Sucrose 0.000000000001% 'Rab C. Nesbit urine.

But no the orange fizzy stuff does not contain Rab C. Nesbist urine and it does not contain ginger hair, it contains: Carbonated water, sugar (carbohydrate), citric acid, flavourings (including caffeine and Quinine), Preservative (E211), Colours (Sunset yellow & Ponceau 4R), Ammonium Ferric citrate(0.002%).WARNING!!!! Sunset yellow & Ponceau 4R: May have an adverse effect on activity and attention in children.

The brand name Irn-Bru has been around since 1901 and only very few people know the secret recipe.

Serving suggestions – Straight or with fish & chips.

Dear Auntie Freeze, at the carnival, I was ambushed and was drawn on with permanent marker. I have tried washing it off with hot soapy water, and face wipes, but nothing works. What can I do?

From S (with a new moustache and glasses) Stewart subcamp

Dear S, a moustache may be the making of you pet they are very becoming in a young lad...oo that is if your not girl of course, but then you start a wee trend my dear.

Blair Atholl Horrorscopes

Robertson – The Glen

The sun is out, and so is the good fortune fairy, lucky for some today, enjoy the sunshine today. Pay thanks to the uncles and aunties today, they will appreciate it, well you should be doing that anyway! Maroon, along with numbers 12 and 5.

Murray – The Peak

The glowing night sky shows the stars are coming into line above your heads, cheeriness and upbeat days will come your way, Don't get complacent however, ensure you keep a smile on your face and a cheery "hello" in any language you prefer. Blue, along with numbers in 4's will bring an easy ride.

Maclean- The River

Can you not feel the positive vibe flowing through the air today? Now you dinner guests are gone, don't let the cooking standards drop, in fact practice makes perfect, Take a chance, go out on a limb. Lime green and perhaps number 7 will bring you fortune and fame.

Macdonald – The Stream

Let the Samba beat reverberate through your brain, look at things from a musical point of view, smile and sing along with the rhythm of life, stay on time and work hard with the tasks you were given. Good things come in lilac boxes, and in groups of more than 3 but less than 5

Stewart – The Mountain

Things are flaring up in the sky for this subcamp, look before you leap, and ensure you work within your own limits. Tonight, take a chance and show your talent, do a little dance? Number 15, preferably something either red or pink will gain you positivity.

Morrison – The Cliff

For that person you are trying to impress, just clean up your act, and well, just clean up in general, take a shower, wear fresh socks, the showers are working. Look for something orange, or look for things in pears, sorry pears.

Dear Auntie Freeze, my next-door neighbour has a habit of keeping smelly socks under his pillows. The are causing a right reek! What can I do?

O deary me, odours can be a sensitive issue. You should be the bigger person here and put a peg on your nose. Not only will it stop you from having to smell the reek it is also a way of tell them about their problem. Love Auntie Freezie

Dear Auntie Freeze,

I am confused! Last night I had a date with Kate Dalrymple at the Staff Club to try to make up with her. However, when I got there I saw her with an even smaller young man called Baldrick! What should I do? Love Torn Phil

My poor wee Phil thank goodness you have made contact I getting a wee bit worried. Now I think you need to get the good tea cosy out and have a Jammy dodgers with Kate, after all it would be nice to put an end to KAPh gate. I think you need to now move on like Kate has to a tea buddy. Love Auntie Freeze

Dear Auntie Freeze,

When I am navigating and I see my team leader take out his secret, also known as a map, should I be worried? Love form a very lost Tom

My dear Tom it means your on a different road in life than you expected and unfortunately you have taken your team with you. Wise up my wee cherub and get a satnav, Love Auntie Freeze
