Subcamp Showdown

An interview with Moo.

One of the key members of staff on the Kastle Entertainments Team is Moo and here are her views on the Subcamp Showdown.

“Auntie Amy reigned supreme as the winner of tonight’s event, but I have to say that Uncle Robbie was my secrete favourite to win.”

“The substance which was poured over the losers was a combination of freezing water, red food dye, mushy cream crackers, blue paper towels, grass, after eights and imaginary vomit.”

“Auntie Fudge was wearing a little black number from Primark. He’s a stylish chap.”

“The best costume had to be Uncle Stevie’s tribal wear, which was quite fetching.”

“Uncle Robert was the most sly contestant, but he sill never won.”

By Joey and Ronnie from Stewart.

Tell Me, Tell Me, Tell Me

We went round asking people different questions about things to do with the camp.

- What is your name?
- What is your job on the camp?
- What is there favourite campfire song?
- What other job would you do on the camp?

Which Is The BEST Evening Activity?

We asked several scouts and leaders what is their favorite night time activity from the organized discos to just chilling with your friends.

Kier (MacLean) just enjoys a good old sleep whereas Sandy, Clare, Connor and Tasmin (MacLean) enjoy listening to Uncle Phil from MacLean's bed time stories. Several people enjoy the romantic side of the evening with Jackson (Murray) enjoying hot music at the discos. The organized evening entertainment has been fantastic with Joseph (Murray) and Jack (Stewart) enjoying last nights hero's and villains disco best, whereas Liam and Hayley (MacLean) preferred the first Krypt disco. Johannes (Stewart) enjoyed the different activities that the carnival had to offer from the giant slide to popcorn. Going out is not for everyone with Angus (Robertson) enjoying to just eat. Ciaran (Murray) enjoys playing about and Ginny (Robertson) enjoys hanging out with the patrols in her sub camp. It is great to hear that you are all enjoying the night life and we hope you continue to have a great time.

My Life In A Book

We asked 50 people with different roles around the camp the following question, "if you had a biography written about you, what would it be called?" There were a lot of brilliant answers, and we have decided to share some of the more creative and unique titles with you:

Looking for inspiration - Craig from Scotland.
Slum dog Greenockian - Kieran from Scotland.
My name is spelt with an 'E' - Eunice from Amateur Radio.
My Life - Philipp from Austria.
Life of a genius - Noah from Scotland.
Norwegian boy on tour - Christoffer from Norway.
Hello me - Ray from America.
Risk Assessment - Sharon from Scotland
A Day In The Life Of A Staple King - Darragh from Ireland
Another Day Another Pot To Clean - Norma from Scotland

The Reception team took the questions light heartedly, and gave answers such as 'Eyes of a maw', 'Glitter and unicorns', 'Could you repeat that please' and 'permanently confused'.

Reported by Ryan and Joseph - Morrison Sub-camp.

Some Camping Tips

- When using a public campground, a tuba placed on your picnic table will keep the campsites on either side vacant.
- Old socks can be made into high fibre beef jerky by smoking them over an open fire.
- When smoking a fish, never inhale.
- Acupuncture was invented by a camper who found a porcupine in his sleeping bag.
- Lint from your navel makes a handy fire starter. Warning: Remove lint from navel before applying the match.
- You'll never be lost if you remember that moss always grows on the north side of your compass.

Team Sports

Team Sports may not be the most desired activity at Blair Atholl. This may be down to the fact that sports may already take a role in our everyday lives meaning most of us would rather choose the more adventurous activities such as the Atholl Experience, Gorge Walking, and Climbing. However Team Sports is a great activity for anyone with a competitive nature or someone who just wants to come along, try something new and have fun in the progress. This activity consists of rugby, rounders, volleyball, football (soccer), and giant football (giant soccer). After taking part in this activity we would recommend taking part in team sports sometime in the course of the remaining week. The instructors are enthusiastic and fun and make the games enjoyable. The sports are chosen well and were enjoyed by most who took part.

Dear Aunti Freeze,

Auntí I need your help. I'm tired of walking all over camp to the activities. Is there another way to get around? Speedy from Murray Subcamp

Dear Speedy,

My, my, a tired Scout? Oh, what will happen next?

I think that you may have had too much Iron Bru to drink. You know it collects in the stomach and legs and weighs you down. If you hear sloshing in your stomach when you are walking that's the answer. Maybe if you undid your belly button some of the excess fluid would drain out. But, be very, very careful. I have heard that sometimes when you undo your bellybutton your bottom will drop off. That might produce a cracked bum.

If you don't have IBFD (Iron Bru Fluid Disease) then these suggestions may help. I'd first try to get a ride on one of the bog trollies. If you hide with the toilet paper no one will see you. However be careful the Site Services team doesn't stick you on the toilet paper holder in the loo. You will see the jamborette from a different point of view.

You could ask the RAF to let you parachute into camp the next time they fly by. The only scary thing would be if your parachute did not open. But don't worry, the fall will not hurt you. It's the sudden stop at the end that hurts.

Lastly you could ask your patrol mates to carry you on their backs. I'm sure they will not mind. They will get a chance to drop you in the mud many times. That's jolly fun especially when you are all muddy and they get to slide you into the wet pit to clean off.

Hope that helps.

Auntí Freeze, Ace Transport Coordinator

Blair Atholl Beats

Thoughts on music at camp – Robyn & Rhiannon (Robertson)

Here at Blair Atholl there are many different opinions regarding what is played over the radio, through the speakers and at the discos. Here are some of the thoughts from both staff and participant:

- “Most of it quite good”
- “Popular songs are overplayed and have become boring and repetitive”
- “Really cool”
- “Too mosh-y”
- “Too mainstream, not enough unique music”
- “No more CALL ME MAYBE”
- “Start wearing purple is great”
- “Amazing, I've liked just about everything”
- “A vast array of genres”
- “We should have music at dinner”
- “That it's a good mix between old & new”
- “Some of it is alright”
- “Fabulous”
- “Needs more heavy metal”
- “Not enough Belle & Sebastian”
- “Woot! I love everything”

Is it just me or can anyone else hear wedding bells ringing?

Love has blossomed in Stewart Subcamp the past few days between the beautiful Heather and the dashing Joseph. What began as the love at first sight over a romantic campfire developed into the next step, marriage. The ceremony will take place on Wednesday 25th of July. Casual dress.

RSVP Ireland & Dunbartonshire

On a side note, congratulations to the wonderful JoJo & JJ in MacDonald and Murray. May their love last forever.

Horriscopes

Robertson: The Llama

Expect a tightrope accident for one of your fellow scouts in the coming days... They will most likely be wearing a onesie have lost the ability to tie shoe laces. This is a skill you will have to teach them again. This will help them in their recovery to become a tightrope walker again. Aid them with clowning (ask Circus Skills).

Murray: The Giraffe

That rugby game you were expecting is coming very close now. The other SECRET team are ready to go. You need to ready yourself for an epic battle that will go down in the history books. Everyone knows that you can do it but you need to prepare yourselves for war, for tonight, ye dine in hell! (ask Team Sports).

Maclean: The Seamonkey

Your trip to Tortooga might not go as well as you hope so you should cancel it! The Black Pearl has been looming in the high seas of the north and if you wish to sail away be prepared for them. Keep your gunpowder dry and your swords need to be sharpened. Have your jar of dirt at your side at all times. Don't forget to get plenty of training when you're on the seas (ask Fencing).

Morrison: The Aardvark

Tribal council is to begin in the coming weeks and your lucky number is 7 Billion. You should attempt to get as many badges as possible to promote inter-tribal culture. This will aid you in your quest to retrieve your monkey idol from the temple. You should run as fast as you can to get out alive. Try to fight them back (ask Archery).

MacDonald: The Alpaca

The chickens are trying to escape and someone will make the event into a movie. You need to stop them escaping or you will lose your food source forever. Everyone likes chicken, so protect your stock. Try to make traps to catch them and run after them. Your fluffy sheep will help you in this mission, and then you can use their wool to make scarves and blankets (ask Sticks and String).

Stewart: The Wallaby

Reach for the stars in Ken and Barbie's house, but watch out for that dodgy purple teddy (he's got some issues). You need to team up to help each other when the purple tyrant decides to take over the daycare centre and you have to take it back! Look to Woody and Buzz to lead you but don't forget: you need to work together! (ask There's No 'I' In Team).

Staff Lines: The Grouse

If you wish to remain tenants in this wonderful campsite you need to get your tent out of the bog. There's a mystical black bush that contains the secrets of this activity. Mr. Daniels has the map that will lead you to the druids, who will point you to the black bush. Travel well, as you will need to recover after the shock. (ask your Uncle during Uncle Time).
